

EDSI has provided workforce development services for over 35 years. Within this business segment, we assist individuals with the transition from unemployment to employment and from under-employment to self-sufficiency. From providing worker skills assessments and labor market analysis for the U.S. Department of Labor, to assisting Child Support Enforcement agencies with recouping funds through Non-Custodial Parent job placement services, EDSI works hard to promote unsubsidized employment, self-sufficiency and smooth program operations for our government clients.

Primary funding sources for our programs include: Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA), Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) and federal grant funding. We provide successful business services and jobseeker placement and retention services for various government programs and corporations across the country.

Our Mission Statement:

We must strive to create enthusiasm in our clients, see through their eyes, understand their needs and deliver more than they expect.

EDSI provides comprehensive job readiness, case management, skills analysis, job placement and retention services to a variety of populations.

The EDSI Impact

At EDSI, we feel the special combination of the 3 Ps – People, Process and Perspective, make us unique:

People - EDSI representatives embody our mission. We see through the customer's eyes. We want to understand the most important aspects of any project and exceed prescribed goals and expectations. We want to make a difference. We want to be there, when we are needed the most, for people and companies in transition.

Process - Process has always been extremely important to us at EDSI. Dating back to the first time we received our ISO certification more than 15 years ago, we acknowledge that what gets measured gets improved. The standard processes establish a baseline of behavior that is continuously improved.

Perspective - We believe the best decisions can be made by listening to different perspectives and incorporating the very best ideas from local, regional and national perspectives. Our local offices know they can call upon experts that are available to assist their efforts. You see things differently when you work ON local efforts, as opposed to IN the local office environment. The combination of those two perspectives leads to powerful solutions.
